Mr Dear Brother Charles. ARTESIAN, S. D., Jan 15 1911

I received your letter last Thursday and I am so busy that it seems as if I will never catch up in my correspondence.

Before I forget I will give you the address for those speakers. It is J. S. Ogilvie, 57, Rose Ave, New York City.
The best one of his books is "Four Hundred and Fifty choice selections and Readings, Price 35 cts. Others are in smaller forms.

Well you are one week ahead of me I have to fight but one week and it seems about one month. It is the longest week that I have put in for a month long while. If it goes no better I will leave the school room forever some of these days. I trust it will be more congenial hereafter.

I am staying at John's now. My family is in Ohio. You will likely see them.

I believe there is one half of the town sick with the grip, Last week we had very cold and disagreeable, and it had the corresponding effect on the people. John is sick with the grip and had the doctor this morning. I am not feeling well and do not know what to make of it. John is my janitor and I will have double work for a few days I suppose. I believe if I can get a position I will go back to Ohio next year. Of course I can not tell what will take place yet. Effie does not like it out here and I do not care to have her come back if she rather live in Ohio. I like it better in the west but I will not live that far away from my family.

I will close for this time and try to write more the next time.

Write soon.

Your brother
Julius
